Dear Sir,

Can you believe that a utilities company officer in Karachi becomes helpful and tries to solve your problem? Yes, these are rare occasions for us Karachiites.

ADE of Misri Shah exchange saw me despite the public hours were over. He listened to me patiently without bothering what language I spoke or which cast or region I belonged to. He really went out of his way to help me. I wanted to pinch myself so see if this was happening.

We don't blame the brain drain but it is this very little ray of hope which shines occasionally and gives us enough encouragement that all is not lost and that things will improve. It is because of some strong and upright people in the machinery that the system still survives and many of us want to stay back.

My salute to upright and strong willed people. You are one of the main supports here. Stay on and become a lesson for others.
